

What's New at TAM?

Recent Gifts to the Collection

Over the last five years, Tacoma Art Museum has added more than 1,000 works of art to the collection through gifts and purchases. Most notable are the transformative gifts of the Haub Family Collection of Western American Art, as well as the Paul Marioni and the Anne Gould Hauberg glass collections that trace the history of the Pilchuck Glass School. TAM also received donations and bequests that allowed the museum to purchase and commission works of art.

The growth of TAM's collection is guided by its mission focus on the art and art history of the Northwest region. The museum's collection plan is designed to ensure the collection grows to fully represent the rich artistic identity of the Northwest and broader western region. In the past five years, works have been added to all areas of the collection: painting, sculpture, prints, drawings, photography, jewelry, glass, digital media, and installation. Select works by national and international artists that help strengthen the meaning, value, and historical perspectives on the art of the Northwest region also have been acquired.

What's New at TAM? celebrates the continued growth of the museum's collection. This selection of recent gifts reveals some of the exciting directions being pursued and progress toward building the premier collection of Northwest art.

Organized by Tacoma Art Museum.

Through museums, visitors make tangible connections to their heritage, art, or the natural world regardless of their ages, the size of their communities, or their economic and ethnic backgrounds. Tacoma Art Museum helps tell these stories by collecting, preserving, researching, and interpreting works of art.

Tacoma Art Museum sincerely thanks the many generous donors who’ve given or promised gifts of artwork and funds to the museum’s collection over the past five years.
