

TACOMA ART MUSEUM

Annual Report
Fiscal Year 2010
July 1, 2009–June 30, 2010

For the 2009–2010 fiscal year, Tacoma Art Museum presented a series of exhibitions focusing on its mission of “emphasizing the art and artists of the Northwest” alongside nationally and internationally acclaimed artists across all media.

The summer of 2009 began with the dynamic pairing of jewelry exhibitions, Ornament as Art: Avant-Garde Jewelry from the Helen Williams Drutt Collection, the only West Coast venue of the major exhibition organized by the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, and Loud Bones: The Jewelry of Nancy Worden, which was curated by Tacoma Art Museum. The autumn exhibitions included A Concise History of Northwest Art, featuring highlights of the museum’s Northwest art collection and exploring the development of the region’s art from the 1890s to the present. Joe Feddersen: Vital Signs, organized by Hallie Ford Museum of Art at Willamette University, presented a retrospective look at Native American artist Joe Feddersen, a nationally acclaimed printmaker, basket maker, and glass artist. One of the museum’s most treasured collections was featured in The Movement of Impressionism: Europe, America, and the Northwest, a survey of how a painting style spread from late 19th-century Paris to the Northwest. The museum’s works by Edgar Degas, Camille Pissarro, and Pierre-Auguste Renoir along with works by Everett Shinn, Maurice Prendergast, and others were supplemented by important loans of Northwest impressionists.

The winter season featured The Secret Language of Animals, a two-gallery exhibition exploring the changing ways artists used animals as symbols for human relationships across three centuries of American and European art. Highlights included three major sculptures of horses by Deborah Butterfield, the sculpture Good Boy by Maurizio Cattelan, and a recreation of Jeffry Mitchell’s The Pile of Elephants. The fiscal year ended with Honoring 15 Years of Neddy Artist Fellows, which included works by all of the Neddy Fellows since 1996 and the 2010 nominees for the fellowship awards.

ART ACQUISITIONS

The museum's collection grew by 149 works, primarily through the major gift of 104 artworks from Safeco Insurance, a member of the Liberty Mutual Group, and Washington Art Consortium, from which our curators selected important works of Northwest art. Through cooperative agreements, Tacoma Art Museum shares ownership of a monumental 1976 painting by William Ivey and Skimming the Sea by Guy Anderson with Western Gallery, Western Washington University. The museum also shares ownership of Window Washers by William Givler and Small Curtain by Michael Brophy with the Whatcom Museum of Art Bellingham. In addition to paintings, photographs, and sculptures, other gifts from the former Safeco Collection include glass works by Harvey Littleton, William Morris, and Dale Chihuly; ceramics by Jamie Walker and Saya Moriyasu; and textiles by Lynn Basa, Carl Chew, and Layne Goldsmith. Other major gifts included Orca by Marvin Oliver from Norma and Leonard Klorfine, and four paintings from the former Washington Mutual collection.

The museum purchased Nancy Worden's Frozen Dreams with funds from the Ramona Solberg Endowment and with support from other museum patrons. Another notable acquisition of the year was the promised gift of a 1991 portrait of Lucas Samaras by Chuck Close from Jon and Mary Shirley.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS AND SPECIAL EVENTS

Tacoma Art Museum started a new tradition with the first annual Coastal Native Celebration. The event highlighted the rich Native heritage of our region. To commemorate the opening of The Secret Language of Animals, the museum hosted a delightful, family-friendly concert featuring the Northwest Sinfonietta. The performance included a guest appearance by Tacoma Mayor Marilyn Strickland, who narrated Peter and the Wolf with musical accompaniment.

The museum welcomed more than 32,000 people who participated in an education program during the fiscal year. Over 18,600 visitors were able to enter the museum free of charge. Nearly 5,000 pre-K through grade 12 students and chaperones visited the museum on a school tour.

The museum's community festivals continued to grow in popularity and creativity. The sixth annual Día de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) celebration in November drew large numbers of visitors as did the Walk on the Wild Side festival, celebrating The Secret Language of Animals exhibition. Artist Deborah Butterfield gave a lecture about her process and inspiration for her large horse sculptures, and New York Times bestselling author Garth Stein spoke about animals in literature. Camille Patha gave a lecture about her artwork through the years, including the piece featured in A Concise History of Northwest Art.

TREASURER'S LETTER

Tacoma Art Museum's financial results improved for the fiscal year ending on June 30, 2010. The museum benefited from strong contributions made by individuals, corporations, foundations, government agencies, and members totaling $1,675,077. This compares favorably to the previous year's contributed income, which totaled $1,600,186, excluding a significant donated asset. This charitable giving speaks to the incredible generosity of those who understand the importance of our core mission, connecting people through art. Because of such strong support, the museum enriches the lives of many—be they regular visitors, young school children, regional artists, devoted teachers, noted scholars, family members, or active teens.

The museum experienced positive investment returns due to stock market increases in the 2010 fiscal year, totaling $1,603,338 compared to a $2,048,057 loss the last fiscal year. This positively impacted the financial results by an increase in net assets of $94,433. The independent audit firm of Brantley Janson Yost & Ellison, which issued the museum's audit, reported no findings resulting from the examination of the financial results or in other words the museum received a "clean audit report."

Excluding investment and financing activities and restricted contributions, Tacoma Art Museum returned to balanced operating results recording a modest surplus. The Board of Trustees, with their strong fiduciary oversight, and the leadership and dedication of the museum staff deserve recognition for their hard work during these challenging times.

The museum is able to celebrate its upcoming 75th anniversary of fulfilling its mission of connecting people through art thanks to the passionate support of our dedicated members and community.
